About this Course

This class is an introductory survey course of the political science American Politics subfield. By the end of this course, you should be familiar with some fundamental debates and works within American political science research. The first half of this class focuses on political institutions. Here, we will study how political elites act within the American political system to achieve their goals. The second half of the class focuses on political behavior. Here, we will focus on how voters develop and act upon their political opinions. Theories of politics and political behavior can help interpret and explain contemporary politics, so we will keep a collective eye on events in Washington throughout the course.

Catalog Course Description

This course will provide you with an overview of the literature and theoretical concepts associated with political science as it relates to American politics. The intent is to provide you with a sample of key findings in the literature, as well as help you develop critical skills for evaluating research.

Learning Objectives

1. To understand the theoretical underpinnings of research focusing on institutional aspects of the United States government with a focus on legislative, executive, and judicial institutions
2. To understand the theoretical underpinnings of research focusing on political behavior, public opinion, partisanship, and elections.
3. Students will acquire conceptual tools and methodologies to analyze and understand their social world. With these tools, they will be able to act in their world more effectively and become forces for positive change. They will gain a better understanding of human diversity. Students will be able to think and write critically about human behavior and community. They will become aware of the various methodological approaches used by social scientists.

Course Requirements

Tests:

This course will have a midterm and a final exam. The midterm exam is Thursday, October 20, and you will be notified October 11 of the Course Topics you will be responsible for on the exam. The final exam will be cumulative and take place December 13 at 12pm. Exam questions will be multiple choice, short answer, and essay. If scheduling permits, there will be an class period. If a student is absent for 3 or more consecutive classes due to health reasons, excused absences will require documentation of the health reason (e.g., from University Health Services). If a student is unable to attend a lecture, Professor Rogers will make an honest effort to post recorded lectures to CanvasIt, however, will not be assured that all lecture material will be recorded (e.g. due to technical difficulties). Regardless of attendance, all students will be responsible for all material covered in lecture.

Required Texts

The following texts should be available from the University Bookstore or online retailers, such as Amazon.com. Other readings will be made available online.

Kollman, Ken. 2019. Readings in American Politics: Analysis and Perspectives. New York: W.W. Norton Company. Fifth Edition. ISBN: 9780393679168

Neustadt, Richard. 1991. Presidential Power and the Modern Presidents: The Politics of Leadership from R to Reagan. New York, NY: The Free Press. ISBN: 9780029227961

This class will briefly review some of the formal procedures of how the American government works (e.g. steps in how a bill becomes a law). It is assumed that students have a basic understanding of these processes from POLS 1100, AP American Government, or a strong high school class. If you are less familiar with how the American government works, the following book provides excellent explanations of many concepts in the course. The course outline specifies suggested Chapters or sections to read for each topic.

Kernell, Samuel, Gary C. Jacobson, Thad Kousser, and Lynn Verebeck. The Logic of American Politics. 7th Edition. ISBN: 9781483319841

University Services

Student Success Center

In recognition that people learn in a variety of ways and that learning is influenced by multiple factors (e.g., prior experience, study skills, learning disability), resources to support student success are available on campus. The Student Success Center assists students with academic-related services. Students create an appointment with the Student Success Center to learn more about tutoring services, university writing services, disability services, and academic coaching. For more information, visit <https://www.slu.edu/lifeat-slu/studentsuccesscenter/index.php>

University Writing Services

Students are encouraged to take advantage of University Writing Services in the Student Success Center; getting feedback benefits writers at all skill levels. Trained writing consultants can help with writing projects, multimedia projects, and oral presentations. University Writing Services offers one-on-one consultations that address everything from brainstorming and developing ideas to crafting strong sentences and documenting sources. For more information, visit <https://www.slu.edu/lifeat-slu/studentsuccesscenter/academic-support/universitywriting-services/index.php> or call the Student Success Center at 314-744-484.

University Policies

Academic Integrity

Academic integrity is honest, truthful and responsible academic conduct. The Commission of Saint Louis the Student Handbook. Non-compliance with this policy may result in disciplinary action, up to and including any of the following:

- o dismissal from the course(s)
 - o removal from campus housing (if applicable)
 - o dismissal from the University
- x To immediately protect the health and well-being of all students, instructors, and staff, instructors reserve the right to cancel or terminate any class session at which any student fails to comply with a Universitywide face mask requirement.

When a Universitywide face mask requirement is not in effect, students and instructors may choose to wear a face mask or not, as they prefer for their own individual comfort level.

ADA Accommodations for Face Mask Requirements

Saint Louis University is committed to maintaining an inclusive and accessible environment. Individuals who are unable to wear a face mask due to medical reasons should contact the Office of Disability (students) or Human Resources (instructors) to initiate the accommodation process identified in the 8 Q L Y H ADA Policy. Inquiries or concerns may also be directed to the Office of Institutional Equity and Diversity.
